69 TROJAN

We, the senior class of Charles H. Darden High School with deep regards and sincere appreciation, dedicate this edition of the TROJAN to who has devoted much of his life to the well-being of our school and community.

Mr. Satchell was graduated from Hampton Institute with an A.B. degree in English and later obtained a M.A. degree and Professional Diploma in music from Columbia University.

His teaching career spanned thirty years which were spent entirely at Darden as an instructor of English and vocal music. During his early years in our school he attained heights of distinction with his choirs and vocal ensembles.

In 1940, Mr. Satchell, inspired by the loyalty and devotion of Darden students to their school and by his own love for the school, wrote a song in which he so captivated the hearts of the faculty and student body that it was immediately acclaimed the ALMA MATER. Original in both words and music it is revered by Darden graduates and students everywhere.

No longer an active member of the teaching profession, Mr. Satchell maintains his interest in our school as evidenced by his visits to and participation in school functions.

With gratitude and sincere admiration, we pay tribute to a true TROJAN.

Make every morning a new beginning. Expect much of yourself.

Expect little of an opportunity unless you put your best self in it.

IN RECOGNITION

It is with sincere pleasure that we reserve a portion of our yearbook for a person of such dynamic leadership ability. He has dedicated his services to us for four successive years and has helped in many ways to light the torch to the future. Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night keeps this devoted servant from executing the many tasks which are far beyond the call of duty.

We, therefore, express our humble gratitude and appreciation to the principal of our school,

MR. E. M. BARNES.

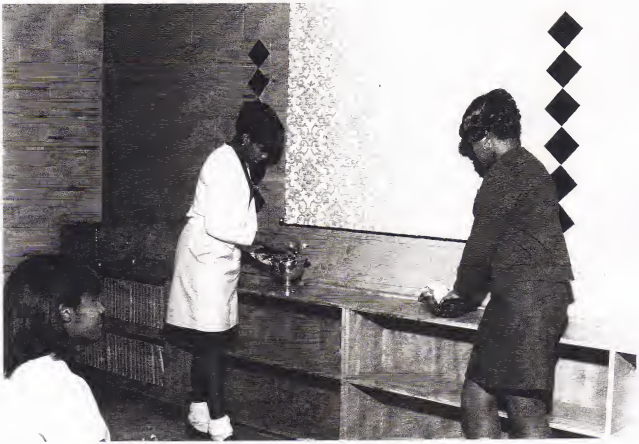
Second year bricklaying class

Bricklaying

Presently, Mr. C. Roger's bricklaying classes have undertaken an innovative project. They are in the process of constructing a house in the city. The house will comply with all codes and regulations as would any other house. When the learning process is fully realized, the house will be sold at public auction.

In Mrs. J. Harris's home economics classes, emphasis is placed on foods, budgeting, child care, clothing, social graces, and family living.



Department care is requisite.

THE MARCHING BAND

The Marching Band, whether performing at a football game or participating in a parade, displays excellence--the quality for which it is noted.

The band's impressive performances during half-time highlight the games at home and away. The dynamic, invigorating music, rhythmic marching steps, perfective formations enthrall one and all.

THE MAJORETTE CORP

Mrs. L. M. Jenkins, Advisor

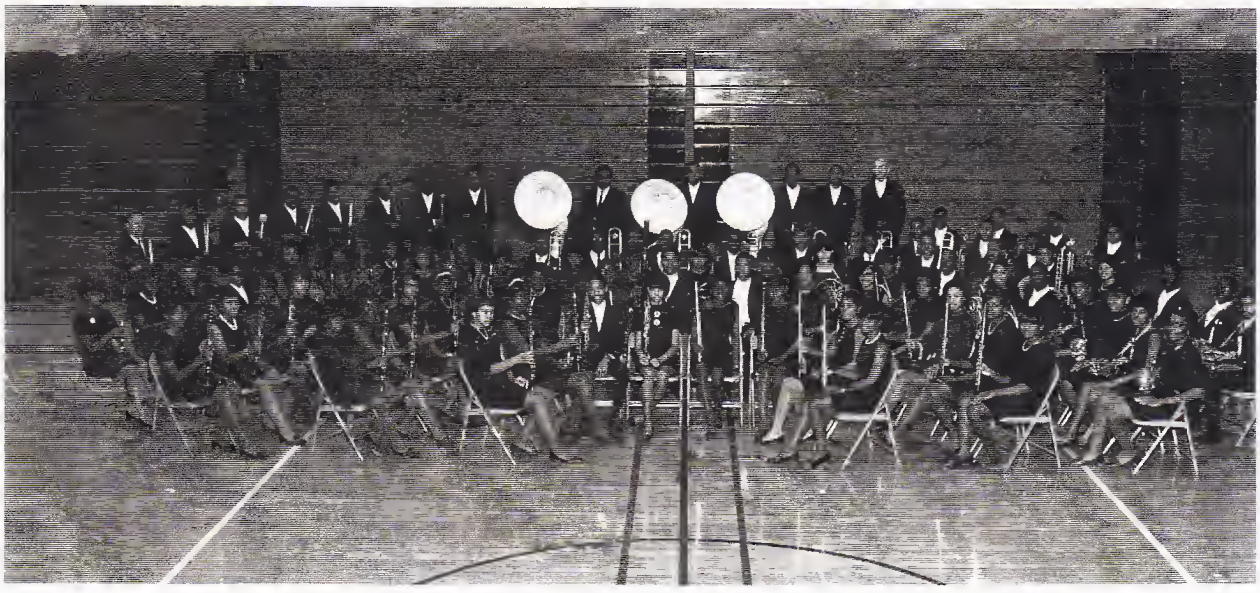
With grace and skill they lead in swirling motion, perfectly timed to the drum cadence.

In four years of competition on the state level since 1962, the majorettes have won first place trophies, two years; second place honors, one year. In individual performance: Miss State Majorette, one year; second place winner, one year.

BAND DIRECTORS

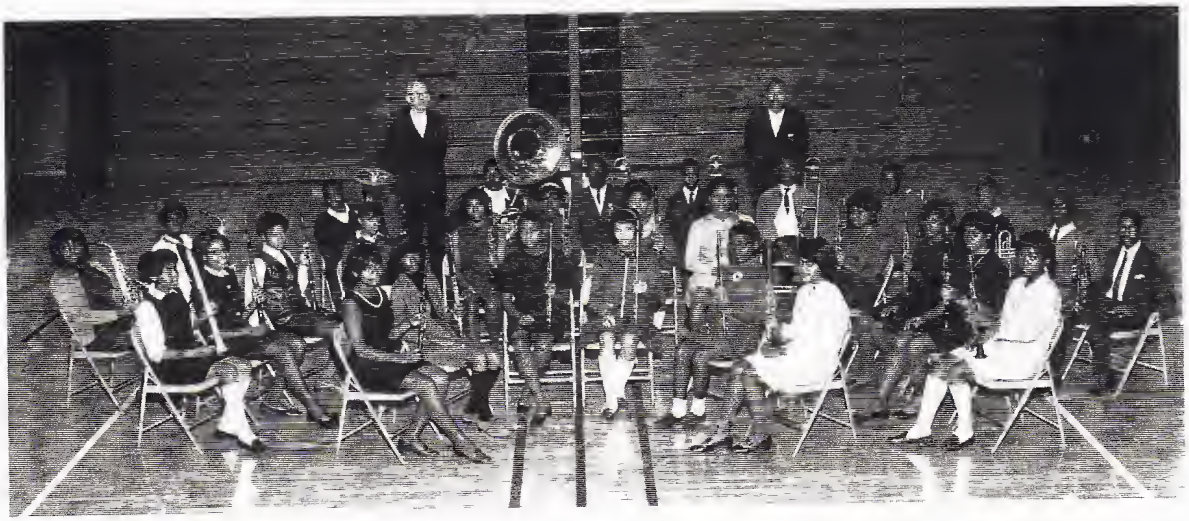
Mr. C. Flowe, director, and Mr. M. Bynum, assistant director, arranging a musical score.

Through their competent leadership, guidance, and effective training, the band program is organized at three levels: beginners--intermediate--symphony.

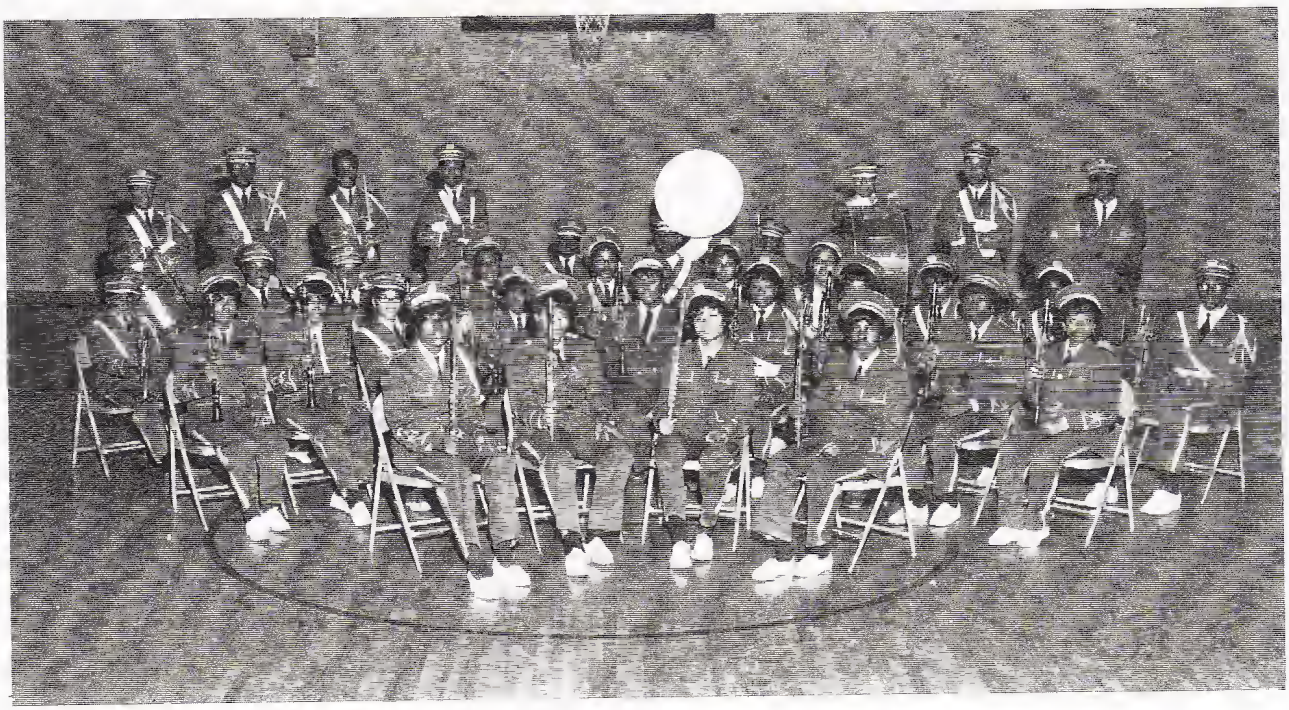


The Symphony Band

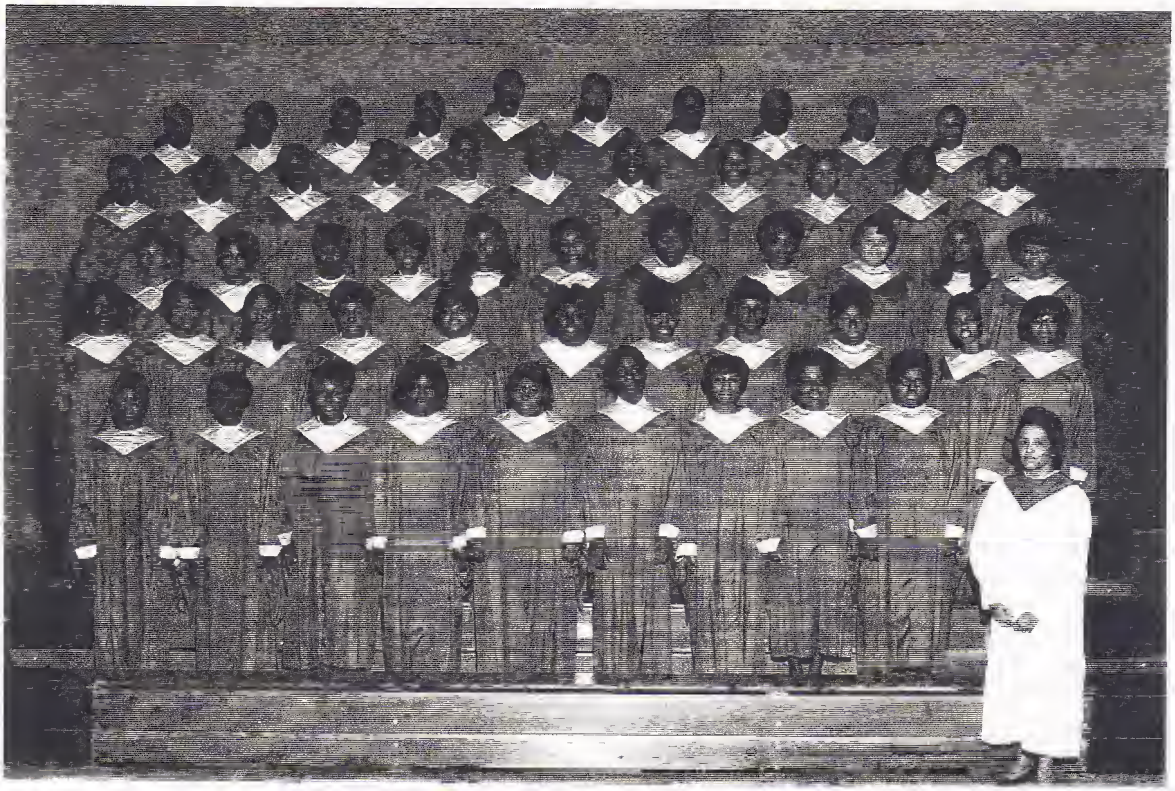
The Beginners Band



In the past eleven years, the Symphony Band participating at the District and State Festivals received twenty first-division ratings and two second-division ratings in Grade Six. The Intermediate Band for the past five years received three first-division ratings and seven second-division ratings in Grade Three.



The Intermediate Band



Living musically is living artistically.

Music is a way of life: a fulfillment of hopes, dreams, and aspirations; a sacred expression of reverence for God; an intellectual stimulus to think, solve, create and perform; a social experience for recreation enjoyment, love, and fellowship.
